Accused by His Wife. F. Walters was arrested on a charge of adultery on complaint of his wife. Walters has a lady friend who lives in Walnut Hil named Mary Heiser. To this lady, it is claimed, he pays too much attention to please his lawful wedded wife, hence the arrest. One of Mr. Walters' children lives with Mary Heiser and is sick, therefore she was not ar-rested. Walters rooms on Farnam street, near Fifteenth.

A Morning Blaze.

A cottage, situated on South Eighteenth below Vinton street, was burned to the ground about 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The person who attempted to turn in the alarm handled the box so roughly and clumsily as to break it. The alarm, therefore, had to be turned in from another box, and this occasioned such a delay that, by the time the fire department reached the scene, it was too late to save the building. The structure was worth about $300, and probably $100 worth of the contents were consumed with it. A defective flue was the cause.

The Y. M. C. A. Building Formally Opened For Religious Work. The dedicatory services in connection with the Y. M. C. A. occurred Tuesday night in the new building on Sixteenth street. The large concert hall, capable of seating 600 persons. was filled to its utmost by a highly respectable audience of ladies and gentlemen. T. H. Taylor, president of the association, occupied the chair, and upon the platform were Roys, Louis Zahner, rector of All Saints' church, Willard Scott, Detweller and Clendening. The laymen present embraced Messrs, P. C. Himebaugh, Jenner, J. L. Kennedy, O. P. Stewart, I. A. Damot, (Lincoln), Nash, state secretary; G. M. Hitchcock, Mayor Breatch, and other prominent

President Taylor in a few well chosen words welcomed the audience to the new building, and solicited their countenance and practical st., port to the management of the institution. The well known hymn "Coronation" was then sung, after which prayer was offered up by the two T C Cleanguing who was followed. after which prayer was offered up by the Rev. T. C. Clendenning, who was followed by Rev. Joseph Detweller in a scripture reading, after which Rev. Willard Scott engaged in an eloquent prayer. Miss Pennell thoroughly tested the acoustics of the hall by singing Allen's "House of Prayer" in her usual artistic manner. This song is a simple little mot, and in Miss Pennell's care it was invested with a beauty of expression that would be wanting in many vocalist's rendi-

would be wanting in many vocalist's rendi-tion. J. L. Kennedy, Leavitt Burnham, Mr. Nash and others made short addresses, Mayor Broatch in response to a call from the chair, spoke as follows: Owing to other engagements I was unable to visit this building during the days upor which the general public was received. I was upon last Saturday evening that I paid my first visit, and to say that I was delighted with the admirable arrangements, and unique design would feebly express what I felt. I sauntered into the office and was there met by gentlemanly ushers whose duty it is to by gentlemanly ushers whose duty it is to welcome all strangers and by a cordial greeting make them feel at home. I was shown through the pariors, so elegantly and generously fitted up by the ladies of our city, and, indeed, I understand the entire furnishing of this building is their gift. Woman is foremost in all good works, and can always be counted on the side which labors for the benefit of society and in the inbenefit of society and in the in-terest of humanity. Your secre-tary kindly took me to the upper floors where I found a completely equipped gymna-sium, and a class of young men exercising under an instructor; I was also shown classrooms where it is proposed to give instruc-tion in modern languages, and the more use ful studies necessary to a young man who would enter upon a business career. Re-turning to the first floor I found that the lawyers of this city had met in the lecture room, and formed a Bar association; and, as the surroundings were pure and healthy, we will hope that with so auspicious a begin-ning, it will continue with credit to itself. I am advised that there are only six other buildings in the United States devoted to the work of the Y. M. C. A., which are equal to this in size, value and completeness of its appointments, and those in larger, older and wealthier cities than our transfer of the containing the containing to the containing the containing to the containing the cont

own. This is certainly something to be proud of. It was in a sense an enter-prise which, to my knowledge, suggested another in the elegant structure across the way. As the exterior suggested an imitation the spirit within will set an example for young men to follow. There is a general impression that to become a member of the Y. M. C. A. a young man must be very re-religious and belong to some church. It is supposed that he must attend daily prayer ectings and in the reading room devote himself to the perusal of sacred books. In my conversation with your secretary he stated that the work to be accomplished was four sided—social, physical, intellectual and spiritual. It is proposed to give a high order of concerts with an admission fee so low that of concerts with an admission fee so low that any young man can afford to take with him a sweet young lady and have the additional enjoyment of her society. We have read much of late of the scarcity of young men at social gatherings, said to be caused by the severo drain upon a depleted purse. To the young men I say, here is your opportunity, and any spanishe girl, will appreciate the situation sensible girl will appreciate the situation. The physical side is—cared for in the gymna-sium—into which you are admitted by the payment of a membership fee of only $10. Considering what is furnished, this fee is ridiculously low, and is but a small sum in good work, and deserves the encouragement of all. Certainly our merchants and bankers are vitally interested in retaining in their

the clerks fall to deserve the confidence of his employer the latter might suffer a pecuniary loss. There is scarcely a business man in this room who cannot recall instances of a late date where an employe has been discharged for dishonesty. There are in many of the establishments of this city from twenty to sixty clerks employed, and the majority have no place to spend their evenings. To such the pool rooms are open, and these places offer every inducement to a young man to chance not only his own but his employer's money.

not only his own but his employer's money. As one of our judges remarked only yester day, the law was inadequate to prevent this species of gambling. But a short time ago a young man lost a valuable situation because he would not heed the warning of his employer to avoid the pool rooms. The vice had such a hold upon him that he would steal away during business hours to bet upon un-certainties. Some firms maintain a system of espionage, and there is many a clerk whose habits are perfectly well known to his employer, though he himself is not aware of it. There are many other daugers besetting a young man who is a stranger among strangers. We know what they are. No one can realize what a young man feels who is without framelies.

man feels who is without friends in a strange place unless he himself has passed through that experience. There comes a time when the novelty of his situation wears off, and he begins to crave for society such as he had at home. If he is fortunate, well and good, but if not, then I pity him. I have been there and I know what he feels. If his character is strong and his morals well grounded he is strong and his morals well grounded he will come out all right, but if he is weak and inclined to be yielding he will need the protecting care of just such an institution as this. I am informed that the theory upon which the Y. M. C. A. is worked is that "Prevention is better than to reform," and the object is to reach young men within a day or two after arrival in this city. This, of course, is best, and any institution striving to obtain such results should be sustained. Mr. Genner stated that the lecture course would em-such results should be sustained. Mr. Gen-ner stated that the lecture course would em-brace some on political enconomy. I hope it will contain many upon municipal reform with utterance as bold and free as those I read in the North American Review not long ago upon that subject. I have always main-tained that the better element predominates in any community, but I am sorry to say that it is only at long periods that it asserts it-in any community, but I am sorry to say that it is only at long periods that it asserts itself. It would be impossible for the lawless elements of society to obtain control of a city government were it not for the apathy, and criminal inifference of the law-abiding people. The people are generally patient and iong-suffering, but there comes a time when the burden of taxation becomes too great to bear, and a cry goes out against the wrongs committed. A little care at the first would have prevented all this. I hope the lectures on political economy will cover this ground. These are questions which the young men of to day will have to meet, and there is no better place to debate them than the lyceum of the Y. M. C. A. What a care is lifted from the mind of a parent, and especially a mother, to mind of a parent, and especially a mother to know that her son, though in a strange city, has come under the influence of the fraternal care of the Y. M. C. A. Its associations, its influences, its works are all for good, and no greater encomium could be passed upon it. I reiterate that in the possession of a building like this our city has much to be proud of, and to the generosity and indomitable energy of one man we are really indebted for it. I do not need to name him, for Mr. Himebaugh is too well known to require an introduction.

some of the men at the garrison on the 1st of January affects not only married but single men. By some mistake it was construed to effect only married men. The foundation for the charge lies in the complaints, or at least the reports on the rifle practice for the last season. King Passes Away. John King, who has been afflicted with consumption for several years, finally succumbed to the inevitable call about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. King was well known in sporting and satoon circles here. He was at one time associated with Henry Hornberger in the liquor traffic, and also with Lew Hibbon. Latterly he conducted a saloon on Douglas street and afterward opened what is known as the "Turf Exchange" is known as the "Turf Exchange' near the Millard hotel on Thirteenth street The deceased was born at Whitechapel, N. Y., about thirty years ago, and has been in this section for the past seven years. He leaves a widow residing at 2125 Park avenue. At the time of his death he was without means, and the funeral expenses will consequently be borne by his friends. The services will occur at the above place at 2 p. m. in Forest Lawn cemetery.

EXPLANATION.

Hundreds of customers to whom we have sold overcoats during the past few weeks, expressed their astonishment and inquired how it is possible that such garments can be sold in the regular way at snch figures. To those and to thousands of others who cannot understand this, and think that the goods must be inferior because we sell them so cheap, we will explain that the reason lies only in the buying. The warm weather prevailing for the last few weeks has been especially disastrous to the clothing trade. Manufacturers are overstocked and discouraged, and to realize cash they offer goods at ruinous prices. This is the chance for the wide-awake and large retailer. Our ample resources enable us to take advantage of such opportunities, and thus it is that we are now offering Overcoats which were made up to retail at $15, $20 and $30, at one-half and less these figures. The overwhelming success which we have had with our overcoat sales, has emboldened our buyer, and induced him to make several big deals. We have opened during the past few days over
